Applying Scientific and Medical Advances to Improve Clinical Care

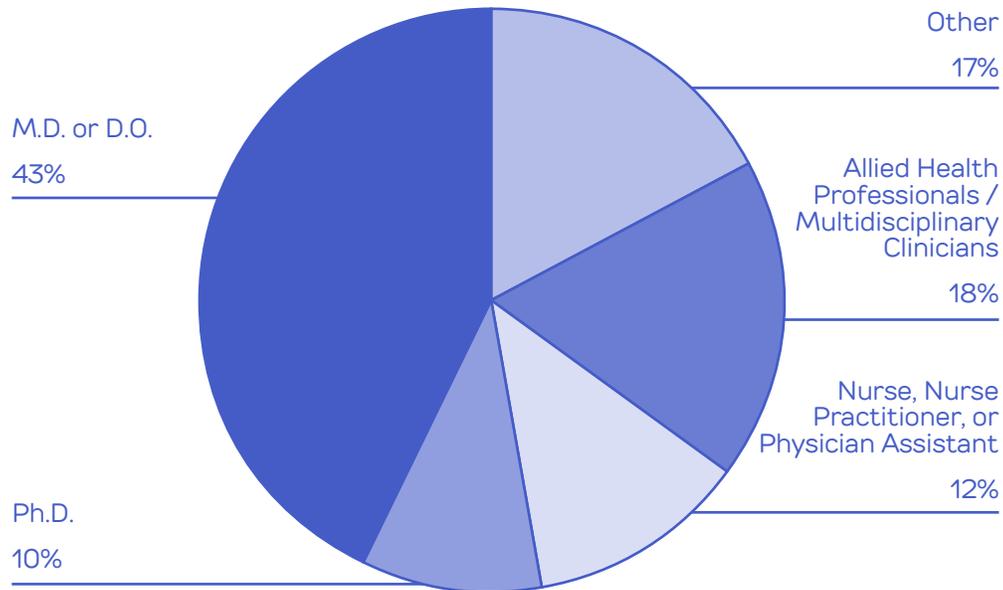

MDA's Clinical Conference is focused on the critical need to optimize medical care for children and adults living with muscular dystrophy, ALS and related life-threatening diseases. The conference will leverage the expertise of clinicians, researchers and allied health professionals across neuromuscular diseases to increase knowledge of emerging diagnostic strategies, discuss best practices for medical management and explore new advances in preclinical and clinical research – all aimed at improving medical outcomes for individuals living with neuromuscular conditions.

Conference presentations and discussions will include the following:

Who Attends the MDA Clinical Conference?

Our partners reach more than 450 influential professionals in the clinical and scientific arenas who are working to save and improve the lives of individuals with neuromuscular diseases.

Continuing Medical Education

Continuing medical education credits will be offered to eligible attendees. The MDA Clinical Conference is planned and implemented in accordance with the accreditation requirements and policies of the Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education (ACCME), including ACCME Standards for Commercial Support, through the joint providership of Emory University's Office of Continuing Medical Education (OCME) and MDA. Continuing education credits also will be available through OCME for nurses who attend the conference.

Become a Clinical Conference Supporter

The biennial Clinical Conference leverages MDA's extensive reach into the scientific, clinical research and clinical practice communities to bring together the world's leading experts in neuromuscular disease. The conference is designed to spark dialogue, promote cross-functional teamwork and drive advances in research and medical care.

With more than $1 billion invested to date in more than 40 disease areas, MDA has supported the work of almost every key opinion leader and touched nearly every therapeutic advance. Our extensive network of researchers spans generations and stretches across the globe.

MDA's network of more than 150 Care Centers throughout the U.S. and Puerto Rico, with more than 2,000 physicians and allied health professionals, is leading the advancement of neuromuscular disease clinical care and provides sites for dozens of clinical trials.

The Clinical Conference is a crucial part of MDA's mission to care for children and adults from day one, while accelerating the development of treatments and cures for the more than 100,000 individuals we serve. Please join us as a partner in this fight.

Conference partnership allows you to reach more than

influential professionals in the academic, clinical, government and industrial arenas who will gather to help drive therapeutic advancements and improved medical outcomes.

A Winning Partnership

Teaming up with MDA for the 2018 Clinical Conference is a positive investment for your company:

Reach and engage an international community of scientific and clinical experts dedicated to accelerating research and improving medical outcomes for individuals with neuromuscular diseases.

Help fight to free individuals from the harmful effects of muscle-debilitating diseases.

Strengthen your brand relevance in the neuromuscular disease community.

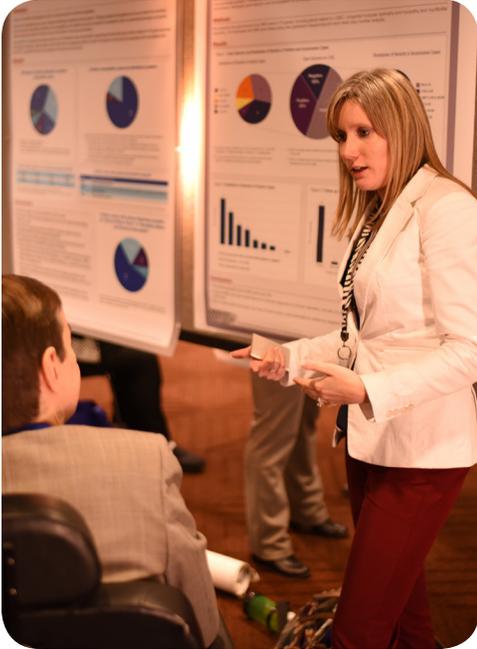

Form powerful connections through a shared purpose.

Be a Champion for Strength, Independence and Life

The freedom to walk, to talk, to run and play. To laugh, to hug. To eat. To breathe. Each day across the country, these everyday freedoms are being taken away from children and adults with muscular dystrophy, ALS and related muscle-debilitating diseases.

Together, we can change that.

Thanks to the generous support of partners like you, MDA fights to free individuals and the families who love them from the harmful effects of these life-threatening diseases that take away physical strength, independence and life.

We use our collective strength to:

Find research breakthroughs across diseases to accelerate treatments and cures

Care for children and adults from day one

Empower families with services and support
